Security

Security Taken Seriously

We understand the importance of having a website developed with web security in mind.

A major aspect of our evaluation focuses on how much emphasis is placed on security from multiple perspectives during the development process. We analyze how companies inspect the overall security of the infrastructure used during development in addition to the code, forms on the website, and modern web technologies being implemented.

Maintenance

Simple to Maintain

We believe it is important to ensure that websites are developed with their long-term performance in mind.

Our analysis covers how well a web development company takes into consideration long-term operation of a website by ensuring that information is being properly indexed and cached when used on a website. In addition, we analyze whether or not vendors are focusing on ensuring their databases are optimized and file sizes are reduced to use less space.
